SIR:

The Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance dated July 13, 2005, recites the Reasons for Allowance for Claims 13-21 as including a "metal" layer on the insulating layer. Claims 13, 16, and 19 recite a "conductive" layer, rather than a "metal" layer. Because not all conductive elements are necessarily metallic, Applicant respectfully requests a revised Reasons for Allowance be issued which recites the respective portions of all allowed Claims 13, 16, and 19, which recite "conductive" rather than "metal."
